

They're Coming to Town

The clowns, the wild animals, the acrobats, they'll all be on hand along towards the end of this month so get your plans formulated.

As usual, Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus will be presenting all the spectacular acts for which they're so well known plus a whole bunch of new stuff.

For example have you ever seen the horse's mortal enemy, the tiger riding on horse-back? Well this is just one of the thrills awaiting you in the center ring July 23 at the new air-conditioned Forum in Inglewood.

But with this 700-pound Siberian tiger riding on his back, think how chagrined the poor horse must feel! Going through life with the beautiful blonde Evy Althoff wouldn't be so hard to take but going through life with the ignominious name of Tiger must be very embarrassing for the poor soul!

And don't think that Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey aren't up to date! Another one of the acts will include "psychodelic pachyderms" if you please, cavorting in the super spectacles called "Inauguration Ball" and "Carnaby Street."

Tickets are now available at the Forum box office and at all Mutual (not pari) ticket agencies and the kiddies under 12 are admitted for half price except Friday nights and the weekend performances.

There'll be two shows a day and three on Saturdays so get the gang together. The circus may no longer be "in tents" but it's certainly "intense!"

He may be new to the L-Bow Room on Santa Monica Blvd. in W.L.A. but he's certainly no newcomer to the general public.

Entertainer extraordinaire Ken Clayton opened last night over there at Pick's spot and a more highly talented and bespeckled pianist you'll not find too near. Really should pick up on this cat! A lot of the other cats at Pick's L-Bow Room have so why not you. You can catch him nightly Tuesday through Sunday. You'll like him!

And if you should arrive a bit early you might sit at the main bar and be regaled by nite bartender Carroll Heiserman, a bartender called "Inauguration Ball" and "Carnaby Street."

You think that Bill Fremont's Foods-of-Spain and their reputation haven't reached far flung fame? Well get this!

Stopped in The Matador Restaurant on W. Pico one nite last week and waiting out their turn for a table, seated at the bar and quaffing a giant malt was Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rowlands of Gardena.

Seems that at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon while enjoying cocktails in London they decided they needed some of The Matador's authentic Spanish cuisine so boarded a plane at 2 p.m. (London time) and landed at the airport around 9 in the evening... just in time for the big rush for foods of Spain!

If you don't believe this yarn, just ask "the man with the big black beard" Dave Dunlop (and don't call him David—he's too big!) and he'll back us up!

But it's small wonder people travel for miles for some of the fine food available at The Matador. And you combine that with the true Spanish entertainment presented here nightly with the largest revue in the history of The Matador you know you've got the authentic flavor of old Spain.

It's always Flamenco time down stairs in The Flamenco Room headed by Pedro Tirado, the beautiful Carlotta and Yetta LaSevillana, guitarists Maria Del Rey, Leonardo Chattle, and Juan Perrin. Try The Matador soon.

It's sore of "the island at home" when you visit the Santa Barbara Inn in Santa Barbara where they feature all those zingy rum drinks so reminiscent of Hawaii and with a complete continental menu at popular prices.

This spot is especially attractive for weekend visiting when Sunday dinners start at noon and continue on 'til ten in the evening. Makes for quite an enjoyable day's outing and it's really not too far. A very leisure motor trip.

And pay no attention to all that jazz about the "earth slippage" that was enjoyed up there last week. Really wasn't as severe as reported. Actually enhanced the favor of your cocktails due to the additional mixing they received. Let's put it this way: it was different! Besides, it wasn't actually centered right in Santa Barbara, and we defy the fault to defy that! (Wonder what that means!)

Then there's always dancing and listening to the music of the Ron Fisher Trio. An entirely delightful spot, the Santa Barbara Inn.

Now wait a minute! What kind of a release is this! "Going out of town?"

When you've got a spot like the Pen and Quill Restaurant, why GO out of town! Especially when you can get such delights as roast Long Island duck bigarde with mushrooms at a mere four eighty-five.

Or why not try for the brochette of beef—that's tenderloin—for four and a half! That's just a couple of the wonderful offerings awaiting your pleasure at the Pen and Quill.

And when you've finished dining, take your turn on the floor to the music of Cy Dubble's group and also listen to the vocals of "Jennie" to add to your enjoyment at the P and Q. They're open seven days a week.

You're not going to believe this but we'll give it ink anyway! Ever hear of an Italian Chinese? Okay, take a peek by the King Far Low Restaurant on West Pico one time and ask for the chef. Know what his name is? It's "Antonio," that's what! And if that's not Italian then what is, pray tell!

Well when you 'phone for reservations at the King Far Low you'll very likely get "Shirley" on the 'phone and she'll tell you, "He's my uncle."

Talked with Sam Failla Monday morning just to see if he and Connie made it back from Hawaii okay. Says he's now finished with the week's vacation bit and will be ready for service any time you drop in to his San Franciscan Restaurant.

But as of Monday ayem, Sam wasn't quite sure who would be coming in for the entertainment gig but you can rest assured, he'll have someone in there making sounds for your dancing and listening pleasure.

Put this with the cuisine that Chef Frank presents there and you've got yourself a deal for either lunch or dinner.

Tried that brochete of beef yet over at Wray's Restaurant in Gardena? It's a whale of a package for a dollar forty-nine. Rice pilaf, soup or salad, or, if you wish, tomato juice plus hot roll and butter. Real deal!

Of course that's not the only thing Bob Mumej has on his menu. Just one of the specials, along with that Steak Festival he presents regularly as well as the "all you can eat" spaghetti special. Everything is most reasonably priced at Wray's, too.

Bastille Days are being observed over at the Red Balloon Restaurant, y'know, according to Manager Clara "Doll-kee" (that's Dalhke, in case you didn't know!). This is the big day in Paris from July 10 through July 14 so why not observe the same celebrations in Torrance!

While you're there enjoying the Beef Burgundy made with prime beef cubes braised with onions and mushrooms, don't forget to register for that free trip to the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas for two.

There'll also be free "Pascal" balloons for the youngsters so get in on the good food and good fun at The Red Balloon.

The Joon Choi Trio grew into a quartet last Friday nite over at the Tea House Restaurant when four truly great musicians put their respective talents together for a full evening of toe-tapping entertainment.

The group consisted of Joon Choi on drums and a beautiful bunch of sounds he makes, too. It's Ken Kim on guitar and violin, Art West makes with the fender-bass and Ray Benowitz plays a rattling great piano.

This crew does just about anything and everything you could hope for musically, from solid beat, to rock, to swing and jazz, and of course just plain good old schmaltz and all in beautiful taste.

Joon himself is a born showman with a fantastic background, keeping up a constant line of chatter with highly amusing undertones. You've got to hear this group to fully understand and believe. Hope they bring 'em back . . . and alive!
